

TWO HUNDRED WERE DROWNED

The Rotterdam Mail Steamer Berlin, Sinks Off The Hook Of Holland This Morning.

VESSEL LOST IN SIGHT OF RESCUERS

Only One Passenger Is Saved—Had List Of 141 Passengers And Crew Of Sixty—Vessel Broke In Two On Sand Reef.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Feb. 21.—The Rotterdam Mail Steamer Berlin, sailing from England with 141 passengers and a full crew, was wrecked off the Hook of Holland at the entrance of the river Hase, leading to Rotterdam, shortly before 10 o'clock this morning and with one exception all on board perished.

Struck, Jetty.
A terrific southwesterly gale blowing right on shore drove the steamer into a large sand bank close to the northern jetty, as she was trying to enter the new waterway. The heavy sea quickly pounded the vessel to pieces.

Broke In Two.
She broke in two, the forepart sinking immediately, while the doomed passengers and crew could be seen for only a brief space of time clustered on the afterpart. Then the afterpart slipped off the ledge and disappeared in the monstrous waves.

Aid Is Sent.
Tugs and life boats were promptly sent to the assistance of the Berlin by the violence of the gale made it impossible to approach the wreck and the helpless would-be life savers saw the steamer break up and the crew and passengers washed away without being able to render the slightest assistance.

One Saved.
One man, an Englishman, was saved. Already twenty-five bodies have been washed ashore. The agents of the vessel at Rotterdam, while not positive, believe the Berlin carried 120 passengers and a crew of 60.

More May Be Saved.
Hook of Holland, Feb. 21, 12 m.—The afterpart of the wrecked steamer Berlin did not slip into deep water, as was at first reported, but seems to be lodged in the sand bank. There is still hope for a few persons thought to be clinging to the wreckage.

Teacher John D.—After you have carefully studied this lesson in figures for a long time I trust you'll not believe all the wicked stories about Standard Oil that are prevalent.

PUPPY SAVES LIFE OF BELOIT FAMILY

Wakens J.C. Wallace In Time to Prevent Asphyxiation From Coal Gas.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., Feb. 21.—But for the fact a little puppy wakened the family of J.C. Wallace early this morning by jumping on their beds the entire family, including Mr. Wallace, his wife and two children, a daughter aged fifteen and a son, aged nine, would have perished from coal gas which had filled the house.

Mr. Wallace tried to get to the front door to obtain fresh air and fainted three times before reaching the door. A physician was called and the four are now out of danger, although they had a narrow escape.

Osteopaths.
The late meeting of the osteopaths is in session here today and tomorrow evening a banquet will be served here at the Hotel Tilton. This afternoon Dr. Carl P. McConnell of Chicago gave an illustrated lecture.

DID NOT KNOW THAT HER BROTHER DIED

Man Suicided Last Christmas Time; Administrator Gets Letter From Sister.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Fond du Lac, Wis., Feb. 21.—Max Lange, administrator of the estate of Prof. Borchert who hanged himself at Mayville two months ago, is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. W. Wilbert of Magdeburg, Germany, a sister of the dead professor, which was addressed to Borchert, the sister not knowing of his death. She asks her brother why he didn't write as usual at Christmas.

WHITTET REELECTED PRESIDENT TODAY

Edgerton Man Again Heads the Wisconsin Lumberman's Association.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 21.—The Wisconsin Lumber Dealers re-elected this morning L. C. Whittet of Edgerton as president. Dr. L. L. Kell, treasurer, W. W. Pointe of Kell, succeeds J. E. Nuzum of Virgoqua as director. They adopted the rule of defining the agreement not to deal with certain wholesalers.

ONEIDA INDIANS ARE SEEKING A FORTUNE

Claim That State of New York Owes Them Much Money For Sale of Tribal Lands.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Green Bay, Wis., Feb. 21.—The Oneida Tribal Council has decided to press the claims for over one million dollars said to be due them from New York state. Dennis Meelock was sent to Washington to confer with the New York tribes as to the proceedings. The money asked is for the sale of lands and interest.

CHICAGO MAN SHOT IN HIS OWN OFFICE

Handsomely Dressed Woman Found in the Room Is Arrested—Refuses to Give Name.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Feb. 21.—Louis Fisher, aged 38, one of the proprietors of the Harrison Art company, was shot dead in his office today by a fashionably dressed woman, who entered Fisher's office and quarreled with him. Fisher was found in the room after the shooting. She was arrested but refused to give her name.

Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A.
Allentown, Pa., Feb. 21.—Scores of earnest and enthusiastic young men are gathered in Allentown to take part in the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A. and if the association cause is to be advanced by intelligent discussion and practical talks by eminent leaders then it will surely receive an impetus at the present convention.

STUDENTS OFF FOR TOKIO CONFERENCE

American Delegates Student Christian Federation Meeting Sailed Today.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
San Francisco, Calif., Feb. 21.—On the Pacific Mail steamship Siberia, which sails for the Orient today, the passengers include the American delegates to the coming world's student Christian federation conference in Tokyo. The approaching gathering is unique, if only for the fact that it will be the first world's gathering of any sort, religious or secular, to be held in the Orient. The conference, which is to be held the first week in April, will be attended by delegates from all parts of the world, representing the Christian students and professors of over twenty-five nations. It is expected that the universities and colleges of India, China and Japan will be especially well represented.

HARRIMAN INQUIRY RESUMED IN GOTHAM

Entire Interstate Commerce Commission Convened for Most Important of Probing.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Feb. 21.—The entire Interstate Commerce commission is going to New York to resume the investigation of the traffic and operating departments and also the financial methods of the Harriman corporations. When the investigation was adjourned in Chicago last month the commission fixed today as the date for resuming the inquiry in New York. The investigation will not be taken up, however, until next Monday, when E. H. Harriman, William Rockefeller, Jacob K. Schiff and others have been summoned to appear and give testimony. The New York hearings will be the most important that the commission has had.

ENTERTAINMENTS IN CLEVELAND'S HONOR

Ex-President and Wife Will be Guests at Many Functions—Subject of Address Not Announced.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., Feb. 21.—Former President Cleveland, accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland, arrived in Chicago today to an invitation of the Union League club to deliver the oration at the annual Washington's birthday celebration to be held under the club auspices. It is the first time in many years that Mr. Cleveland has consented to overstep the rule and deliver a public address west of New York. The celebration will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Auditorium and it is safe to say that every foot of space in the immense theatre will be taxed to accommodate the great crowd that will assemble to hear the former President. The subject of Mr. Cleveland's address has not been announced. It is expected, however, he will discuss at some length the democracy of the middle west. During their stay in the city Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland are to be the guests of James H. Eckels, former comptroller of the currency. Tomorrow evening Mr. Cleveland will be the chief guest at a banquet given at the Union League club. Several entertainments have also been planned in his honor.

MURDERER WHO MADE BOERS WILL LIKELY WIN BALLOT FIGHT

Progressives Will Probably be Defeated in Election of New Transvaal Legislators.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Feb. 21.—A dispatch from Johannesburg says that the first elections to parliament under the new Transvaal constitution took place quietly yesterday. It is expected that it will be a month before the polling is completed, though outward indications are already abundant that the Boers will succeed in securing a useful working majority in the lower house. The campaign has been a heated straight fight between the progressives—composed of the mining interests—and the Het Volk, or Boer party. The Boers have gained an advantage by getting the support of a number of colonial largely British labor men and mine workers, who are bitterly opposed to the policy of the progressives in fostering Chinese labor.

FIRST REGIMENT'S ANNUAL ATHLETICS

Handicaps for All Registered Amateurs and Events for Academics, Prep and High Schools.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Feb. 21.—The pick of the amateur athletes of the Chicago district are entered in the thirteenth annual open handicap meet to be given by the First Regiment Athletic association tonight. In addition to the handicaps, which are open to all registered athletes, there are three events for academics and preparatory schools and three events limited to high school athletes. The complete list of events on the program are as follows: Academy and preparatory, 40-yard dash, 300-yard dash and mile relay. High schools, 40-yard dash, 300-yard dash and mile relay. Open events, 40-yard high hurdle, 300-yard obstacle race, scratch. Handicap events, 40 yards, 440 yards, half mile, two-mile, high jump, pole vault, 16-pound shotput, and mile relay.

DEMMY PRIMARIES IN CHICAGO TODAY

Voting Might Decide Who is to be Next Mayor—Choice May be Deferred Till Saturday.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., Feb. 21.—Seldom even in the turbulent politics of Chicago has so much interest been displayed in a political event as is manifested in today's Democratic primaries, which are expected to decide the mayoralty candidate. The fight between the rival factions led by Mayor Dunne and ex-Mayor Carter Harrison is extremely bitter and it is barely possible that the final decision will not be reached until the convention is held Saturday. The Harrison faction is working with might and main and the leaders appear confident of the success of the former mayor. The Republican primaries will be held next week. The leading candidates for the Republican mayoralty nomination are Postmaster Busse and Alexander Revell, named in the order of their supposed strength.

Michigan Abstractors
Flint, Mich., Feb. 21.—There was a large and representative attendance today at the annual state convention of the Michigan Abstractors' association. The convention will be in session two days.

TESTIMONY SO VULGAR A WOMAN REPORTER LEAVES THE COURT ROOM TODAY

Jerome Continues To Force Mrs. Thaw To Tell All Details Of Relations With White.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Feb. 21.—There will be a session of the Thaw trial tomorrow. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was called to the stand when court opened today.

Mrs. Thaw said after her first experience with White her relations with him continued for a time. Tears came into her eyes and her voice trembled as Jerome continued to question her intimately about her relations with White.

One newspaper woman left the courtroom overcome by emotion. As she said that her relations with White continued against her will, she cried bitterly and her husband, Harry Thaw, hid his face in his hands as Jerome bitterly attacked his wife.

Once Jerome offered to suspend for a time, but Delmas would not consent.

Jerome then fiercely demanded from the witness the reason why she had written to White from Bologne, and Mrs. Thaw raised her voice as she replied:

"Because my mother would give me no peace until I did it. She said I was ungrateful to White and things like that."

"Had you any occasion to doubt the chastity of your own mother?"

"I never thought of my mother in that way," and Mrs. Thaw stamped her foot.

Mrs. Thaw said she could not remember member of ever having gone to a doctor with Jack Barrymore. She said her relations with White ceased after January, 1902; that the incidents occurred usually after the theatre was over, in the 22d and 24th street studios and in the Tower; that they were not frequent, and were against her consent, and accomplished partly by violence and partly by a too free indulgence in wine.

Delmas said Mrs. Thaw had retained counsel because of threats against her.

In endeavoring to secure the introduction of White's letter, which is said to be in the possession of Thaw's counsel, Jerome called Attorney Hartbridge to the stand, Mrs. Thaw being temporarily excused. Hartbridge declined to answer any questions regarding letters. Mr. Delmas said he heard a report that Mrs. Thaw was to be indicted in this case and this entitled Hartbridge to withhold the answers as her attorney. Jerome said no such statement had been made. It was decided this afternoon to hold court tomorrow and Saturday in order to permit Doctors Deemar and Bingham to testify, as they want to leave the city. Mrs. Thaw's examination, according to Jerome, will last another day and a half. Hartbridge was served with a subpoena this afternoon, requiring him to produce White's letters. Hartbridge said he would not comply.

MULTI-MILLIONAIRE OF SEVEN ENJOYS BIRTHDAY

John Nicholas Brown Will Be Worth More Than Thirty Millions When He Attains His Majority.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Providence, R. I., Feb. 21.—John Nicholas Brown, who can no longer be called the "ten million dollar baby" but who is still the richest boy in the world, was 7 years old today. He was born on February 21, 1900, and the death of his father, on May 1, of that year, and Harold Brown, his uncle, May 31, of the same year, he became the heir and head of the family. His father's death left him five million dollars and by his uncle's death he became the possessor of another five million. By the time he is 21 years old these ten millions will have grown into thirty millions. When his grandmother, who was of the rich Dresser sisters dies, still more millions will be added.

Baby Brown came into the world puny and delicate, but he is now as sturdy a boy as any of his little playmates. His health, happiness, and welfare is the especial care not only of his mother but of a whole retinue of servants. Besides a special physician, two nurses and a governess, he has a special cook, a maid whose sole duty is to look after the airing of his rooms, a maid to keep his clothes mended and look after his toys, and a maid to wash and sterilize his dishes. He has three palatial residences and a yacht. His other and more prized possessions include a $10,000 pony and a pet cow that feeds in a $100,000 clover field.

But with all these luxuries and evidences of wealth, John Nicholas Brown is a very democratic little chap, and no poor boy is too ragged to approach him. His mother does not limit him to playmates of the millionaire class and some of the poorer boys living in the neighborhood of the Brown palace are among his most cherished friends.

Little John Nicholas is the last representative of the Rhode Island Browns, a family that has been famous for more than a century. His father was the eldest son of John Carter Brown, who gave to this city a big public library. His great-grandfather, Nicholas Brown, was one of the liberal benefactors of Brown University, and his father, Chad Brown, was one of the original settlers of Providence.

TARIFF REVISION ASKED FOR BY THE LEGISLATURE

State Goes On Record Calling Upon Roosevelt To Call An Extra Session Of Congress.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 21.—Wisconsin is eagerly demanding a revision of the tariff, and by concurring in the assembly resolutions today the senate placed the state surely in line with a movement for a special session of congress for the purpose of readjustment of the tariff schedules of the Dingley laws. In both houses of the legislature two resolutions have been adopted with practical unanimity—one calling upon the Wisconsin delegation at Washington to demand of the committee on elections, introduced a bill, removing the application primary election law from municipal offices, in cities of the fourth class, and providing they be nominated by petition. Both houses adjourned until nine o'clock Tuesday night on account of Washington's birthday.

quire undue haste. Senator Sanborn expressed as his opinion that one resolution would be sufficient, the Miller measure asking for an extra session of congress, but Senator Whitehead preferred that the Ledvina resolution be adopted, calling upon the Wisconsin senators and representatives to work for the revision immediately. Under a suspension of the rules the senate passed Senator Huddall's bill to create the towns of Hawthorne, Solon Springs and Highland in Douglas county. He desires to get the bill through before the court adjourns at Superior. Senator Martin, chairman of the committee on elections, introduced a bill, removing the application primary election law from municipal offices, in cities of the fourth class, and providing they be nominated by petition. Both houses adjourned until nine o'clock Tuesday night on account of Washington's birthday.

Weather and Suicides.
Suicide travels in waves like various kinds of crime, and in large cities they come in rapid succession. Dull November has been called the suicide month; but August shows a large number the past year, and it is believed that the great heat has a very great deal to do with suicides. In extreme cold-weather there are few suicides
in this or any other country.

A Machinist
Receives Help
Two years ago Father John's Medicine cured a severe cold for Lewis Nicol, a machinist, living at 76 Shattuck Ave., Springfield, Mass. He says: "I have had no cold since then until recently, when I again caught

BREACH OF PROMISE
SUIT FROM TURTLE

Miss Lena Barrs Seeks to Recover
$25,000 From William J.
Trosen.

Miss Lena Barrs of the town of Turtle has instituted a $25,000 breach of promise suit against William J. Trosen of the same township. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant commenced his courtship about Jan. 1, 1905; that he repeatedly asked said plaintiff to marry him and that it was agreed in September, 1906, that the wedding
should take place within two months;
and that about the last of November
the said Trosen absolutely refused to keep the agreement and promise, and told Miss Barrs that he would not marry her. By reason of this refusal the plaintiff claims to have suffered great humiliation and mortification, to have sustained pecuniary loss, and to have been disappointed in her reasonable expectations of the material and worldly advantage that would have resulted from said marriage had it been consummated. Wherefore she seeks the redress named, and J. W. Bates is her attorney.

BOSTWICK & SONS TO BUILD THIS SPRING

A $25,000 Three-story Brick Structure
Adjoining Bassett & Echlin Factory.

There are indications that the spring and summer of 1907 will witness renewed activity in building operations in and about the city of Janesville. The first announcement comes from J. M.
Bostwick & Sons who have had plans drawn by Contractor Sutton Norris for a three story brick structure with a frontage of 75 feet on Court street and a depth of 140 feet to be erected on the vacant plot of ground adjoining the Bassett & Echlin factory and extending to the river. The Bassett & Echlin building and adjacent real estate, as well as the site of the new building, are owned by Bostwick & Sons. The new building will be put up at a cost of $25,000 and it is understood that it will be occupied by the saddlery manufacturers, another concern moving into the quarters they now occupy.

Bankruptcy Charges Against Tabasco
Chapin Company is Dismissed
By Judge.

Janesville investors are interested in the action of Judge Landis of Chicago who yesterday afternoon dismissed the bankruptcy proceedings begun Aug. 24, 1906, against the Tabasco Chapin Trading and Transportation company, of which Isaiah B.
Miller is treasurer. The dismissal was upon the petition of the treasurer, in which the court was informed that the controversy between the persons who had filed the involuntary petition in bankruptcy and the company had been settled, and that due legal notice had been served upon all the creditors and none had protested.
Following the filing of the involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the concern, Miller and Henry D.
Bushell, an officer of the company, were indicted for using the mails to defraud. The criminal case is pending in the federal court. Miller in his petition informed the court that the business of the concern was still being conducted.

PILES CURED

Broken Down with Twenty Years' Suffering, Massachusetts Man
Cured by Wonderful Pyramid Pile Cure.

Trial Package Free to All on Request.
"I tried the sample of your cure you sent me. I used it and then bought a 50c box. The results were immediate and surprising to me. I assure you, I had been to a dozen of the best doctors and paid much money to them with no results whatever. I had this affliction for 20 years. I was in hospital for a long time, and I felt it physically broken down. I have been so bad for months at a time as to be unable to walk. Having a friend who lost his life by an operation, I desisted from ever having that experiment tried on me. I owe you a debt of gratitude. I believe that piles would be banished from humanity and become an unknown thing, were every one afflicted with them to but spend from 50c to $1.00 for Pyramid Pile Cure. It's speedy action also makes it extremely favorable for impatient people. I am yours sincerely, George H. Bartlett, Mattapan, Mass."

Why should this man be cured and you left to suffer? Why should you endure the torture of an operation
when thousands of cases of the utmost severity have been instantly remedied by our method?
The Pyramid Pile Cure is Nature's method of curing piles. The little suppositories immediately reduce all congestion and swelling, heal the fevered and ulcerated parts and bring the rectum back to its normal condition.
It costs you absolutely nothing to try this treatment. We will gladly send you a free trial package of the Pyramid Pile Cure in a plain sealed wrapper without any expense to you if you will send your name and address to Pyramid Drug Co., 80 Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich.
When you have used the sample of the Pyramid Pile Cure, you can get the same remedy at any druggists at 50 cents per box.

DEAN HENRY WILL TAKE YEAR'S REST

Retires to Recuperate and Will Later Resume Work as Professor of Agriculture.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 20.—On account of ill health Dean W. A. Henry tendered his resignation as head of that department at the meeting of the regents today. About two years ago
Dean Henry requested that he be relieved from the executive duties, but President VanHise urged him to remain, and has continued to do so despite the fact that the request has been renewed several times since then.
Recently, however, Dean Henry's health has been such that it has been found necessary for him to be released from the responsibility of the great amount of executive work connected with the direction of the college of agriculture and experiment station.
Although retiring from the office of dean and director, he is to continue in the college as emeritus professor of agriculture, and will perform such duties as his health permits.

Dean Henry's letter of resignation is as follows:
"Dear President VanHise: I hereby renew my request that with the close of the college year I be relieved of the duties of dean and director. My reason is that I have not the health and strength to properly carry on the duties of the position.
"Please convey to the regents my highest expression of regard. Not once in the twenty-seven years of my service to the university has there been any friction or difference of opinion between us. I prize this record above the expression of words.
"I thank you, dear president, for the consideration, helpful support you have given me at all times. In this act which will bring to my life such a profound change, I am cheered and brought with the thought that no one person is essential to the success of any great enterprise. My work has been that of a pioneer. I have laid only the foundations; others will build a better superstructure than I possibly could. The farmers of Wisconsin whose needs I had ever before me in all that has been done, will never for a day, even, allow their agricultural college to swerve from its purpose.
"It is my hope, as it is my ambition, that when the load of responsibility is removed and I have somewhat regained my old time health and vigor
I can draw closer than ever before to our students and the farmers, and so, in some ways at least, be more useful than ever before.

Regrets Retirement.
very respectfully, (Signed)
W. A. Henry."

In his report to the regents concerning the resignation of Professor Henry President VanHise says:
"It is with great regret that I transmit to you this resignation of Professor Henry as dean of the college of agriculture and director of the experiment station. About two years ago
Dean Henry requested that he be relieved from his executive duties, and this request he has repeated several times. Each time he has made the request I have urged that he retain his executive duties, saying that I was willing to recommend to the regents that he be given all necessary leaves of absence. However, I have finally, with great reluctance, become convinced that Dean Henry's health is such that he is justified in asking that he be released from his executive work, and therefore I recommend that his resignation as dean of the college of agriculture and director of the experiment station be accepted, same to take effect July 1, 1907, and that he be appointed emeritus professor with the understanding that he shall perform such duties as his strength will permit.
"In making this recommendation I wish to record my appreciation of the inestimable service which Dean Henry has rendered the state during the long period that he has been connected with the college of agriculture. When Dean Henry assumed charge of the agricultural college twenty-six years ago last autumn, there were no students in attendance at the college of agriculture. The college up to that date had produced no effect upon the state. At the present time this college, both on the instructional and investigative sides, is second to none in the United States. Material gain to the state due to the work of the college is to be measured by many millions of dollars per annum.
Through its influence also the life of the farmer has been raised to a higher intellectual plane, and the time is not far distant when in this state the practice of agriculture will be recognized as a profession. In no small measure this great advance will be due to the work of Dean Henry in building the college of agriculture in the university and the extension of its influence throughout the state.
"If can not close this part of my report without mentioning the deep sense of personal loss I feel whenever I think of Dean Henry's retirement from the headship of the college of agriculture. With him I have worked in perfect sympathy not only with reference to the upbuilding of the college of agriculture, but to the advancement of the university as a whole."

Twenty-seven Years at Wisconsin.
Dean Henry has been connected with the university for twenty-seven years, having been elected professor of botany and agriculture in June, 1880. Upon the establishment of the experiment station in 1887, he was appointed director, and in 1891 he became dean of the college of agriculture. When Dean Henry took charge of the agricultural work in 1880, there were no agricultural students in attendance. The following year, 1881-2, there were six. In 1896 the first successful short course in agriculture in this country was established at the university. Three years later, in 1899, the first dairy course in America was given. In 1904 the ten days' farmers' course was successfully established.

Under Dean Henry's direction the college of agriculture has increased in enrollment from 6 to 1221. The four years' course in agriculture has grown from 3 students to 136. The short course began with a registration of 19 twenty years ago, and this year has 227. The dairy course, beginning in 1890 with 2 students, last year reached a total enrollment of 163. In the four years, since its inception the ten days' farmers' course has increased in attendance from 175
to 607.

Old Important Work.
William Arnon Henry was born in Norwalk, O., June 10, 1850. After spending his early life on the farm and attending a country school, he became a student at Ohio Wesleyan university. Before completing his course he was principal of the high school at New Haven, Ind., and afterwards at Boulder, Col. In 1876 he entered Cornell university, from which he was graduated four years later with the degree of bachelor of agriculture. Since coming to the university in 1880 Dean Henry has been closely identified with the agricultural interests of the state, and has taken an active part in all movements calculated to improve the condition of agriculture in Wisconsin. Under his directorship have been published up to the present time 23 annual reports of the agricultural experiment station, of not less than 15,000 copies, which aggregate 6,005 pages of printed matter. In addition 145 bulletins, in editions of 5,000 to 50,000 copies aggregating 4,415 printed pages have been printed and distributed to the farmers of the state.

In addition to his publishing, his executive duties, teaching and research work, Professor Henry has published a number of important works on agriculture. In 1891 he prepared the second part of Secretary Jerry Rust's familiar book on the diseases of cattle and cattle feeding. In 1898 he published a well known volume of some 700 pages on feeds and feeding which, at the present time, has gone through seven editions with a total of 25,000 copies, and which is used in practically all American colleges of agriculture as a textbook. For years he has served on the editorial board of the Breeder's Gazette and of Hoard's Dairyman.

Marriage Secret
FOR ONLY TEN DAYS
Pearl Burton and Gilbert Mickelson of Evanville Were Wedded in Rockford Recently.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Evanville, Wis., Feb. 20.—The many friends in this city of Gilbert Mickelson and Miss Pearl Burton were greatly surprised yesterday
when they learned of their marriage in Rockford on Sunday, Feb. 10. On that date the couple made a trip to Rockford, supposedly to visit relatives, and were quietly married, returning to Evanville Monday evening, saying nothing to their friends of their marriage. But in some way the fact became known to them and the couple were equally surprised when their friends began congratulating them. The groom is an employee of J. H. Johnson and the bride has a large circle of friends here. The couple will make their home in this city.

Lecture on "The Homeless Boy."
The fourth number of the Evansville lecture course, was given in Mage's opera house last evening. The Rev. John Daly, rector of Boys' Home, Milwaukee, Wis., gave his noted lecture "The Homeless Boy." Mr. Daly was greeted by a large and appreciative audience and those in attendance speak in the highest terms of Mr.
Daly as an entertainer.

Farewell For Misses Little.
A few friends were very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs.
Charles Johnson Tuesday evening.
The party was given as a farewell to the Misses Mary and Lucy Little. Music and games formed the amusement of the evening and all seemed to heartily enjoy the occasion.

Personal Paragraphs.
Mrs. T. O. Heide, and daughter Marie who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Thurman and other relatives, will leave for her home in Acton, North Dakota, next Monday.

Mrs. Verne Axtell and Mrs. H. A.
Langemak will entertain the employees of the Economy store at the home of Mrs. Axtell Thursday evening.

Byron Campbell is in Milwaukee attending the meeting of the Grand Chapter of Wisconsin held in that city this week.

The English club will hold its first meeting Feb. 25. A. A. Far-ace, entitled "Mr. Plodding's Nieces" will be presented.

Miss Bessie Spencer will spend a week or two in Milwaukee. While there she will study the latest ideas
in spring millinery.

Miss Anna Dillard will go to Beloit soon where she will take a course in the business college in that city.

Miss Maude Pessenden of Whitewater Normal will spend the last of the week with relatives here.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church parsonage Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Little and family who expect soon to leave for their new home in Baraboo.

Mrs. Byron Campbell is in Madison
a guest at the home of her son, Will.
Sheriff Fisher spent a few hours
in our city this morning.

E. S. Huff of Arpin, Wis., is here on business.

'HEIR TO HOORAH'
AGAIN REVEALED

Before a Delighted, Though Only Fair-Sized Audience; at the Myers Theatre.

Ernest Lampson, living his character delineation of "Dave Lacy," a song, violin, quiet man of the west—
unhappily, untried by convention, possessed of the warm heart, the simplicity and the candor of a child, dominated again, while only seeming a part of the background, every scene of that intensely human drama "The Heir to the Hoorah." At intervals, the real man, Lampson, whose every movement on the stage is a delight to the onlooker, breaks away from managerial restraints and goes freelancing on the road with a little play he wrote himself. And just as often he meets with reverses and recoups his lost fortunes again by tying up to some successful production in a secondary role. Yet his faith in the little play never dies, just as Dave Lacy's sure confidence in human nature and his comrades seldom wavers and is never lost in the story that was unfolded here for the second time last evening. All of which only tends to show that there is a strong bond of sympathy between the man and the character he essays, and that such things may really count for something.

To Guy Bates Post is entrusted the unfolding of the playwright's central character, the impetuous miner who has bought a woman of a little refinement for a wife and thereby placed himself in jeopardy. Somehow, with all of Post's deft and subtle touches revealing the distraught and clinging victim who has decided to renounce his friends to appease the grim, uncon-promising mother-in-law, and later the contrite resolute man returning to his senses, he never reaches out and actually grasps the full sympathy of his audience. He stands apart from his comrades at the very beginning and a note of insincerity, discernible here and there, makes the wonderful loyalty to him seem never fully justified.

Miss Janet Beecher has succeeded Nora O'Brien as "Mrs. Lacy" and is immeasurably superior to her predecessor. Possessed of rare personal comeliness and charm, she plays the part of the ill-advised and remarkably sympathetic and understanding Miss Ada Nevil is the successor of Louise Moreau as "Mrs. Kent," and she creates a picture of hawklike, heartless, society mentor, which makes the male element of the audience forget all about chivalry, and long for a good whip and an opportunity to use it. Miss Helen Lackaye is a refreshing and delightful "Mrs. Kate Brad-don," quite as pleasing as Miss Jane Peyton, her predecessor, in the part,
and the same may be said of Miss Gertrude Dalton who has succeeded Miss Louise Rutter as "Aunt Maggie."

Frank Monroe compares favorably with Wright Kramer, in the delineation of "H. Van Rensselaer Kelley." Ralph Dean is perhaps not quite as convincing as Wilfred Lucas as "Bud Young." C. C. Quimby again appears as "Bill Ferguson" and Horace Newman who has succeeded C. Campbell gives a droll impersonation of the drawing "Lon Perry." Ben Higgins is again the inflammable "Gus Ferris,"
who has to be lassoed and pinioned
before he will submit to the indignity of a collar. H. S. Hashida appears as "Fush," the Jap Valet, in place of T.
Tamamoto.

Even in the tenth season Paul Armstrong's splendid web of unforced humor and real pathos, revealed by this splendid company, should have crowded the house. The audience was fair sized and made up in appreciation what it lacked numbers.

LINK AND TIN.
Northwestern Road.
While the 737 was switching near tower 3D this morning, a rail in the old main track was broken and for some time the south end of the yard was blocked. Until the repairs were made the two engines were coupled together for work on the north end.

Conductor Davis laid off train number 590 today and took the second section of number 578 to Chicago.
Parry Relieved Davis on 590.

Operator Bixby has resumed work at Shopiere after being laid up with erysipelas.

Fireman Garry is relieving Fireman
Yates on the day switchengine.

Conductor Witwer is relieving Conductor Ellsworth.

Engineer Coen and Fireman Laird
are on run 30.

Brakeman Martin Carroll, who has been nursing a badly sprained wrist
the past six weeks, has resumed work.

Engine number 147 is relieving 48
in the local yards.

Operator Coburn of Harvard relieved Operator Woodbury at Shopiere
last night.

St. Paul Road.
Express Messenger North McGregor
has taken the Janesville-North McGregor run and Harry Shaw has been transferred to Kansas City.

General Foreman J. C. Fox was a Beloit visitor yesterday.

Fireman Ernest Zoellman is on switchengine number 1069 days.

John Skelly is pulling fires at the roundhouse.

Engineer John Falter, who has been off duty with an injured optic, is reported for work.

Fireman McAuliffe has returned from Racine.

Engineer John Cornelius is home from Beloit where he was running switchengine number 1061.

Trains number 162 and 173 were abandoned today.

Gazette's Magazine Has Interesting Stories for the Readers—Bright Snappy Descriptions.

In the issue of the magazine section of the Gazette which appears February 23 will be found much interesting reading. The first story is by Mrs.
Fremont Older on "The Wife of a Genius." This followed by an article on "Sky Sailing in America," by Walden Fawcett. Guy B. Mitchell adds a few thoughts on "Some Capito-lized Smiths." General Charles King has a bit of fiction that takes some of the characters of Ft. Wayne further on in their wedding trip. Richard Hilde talks and writes entertainingly on "Good Roads." Sara Guimpe writes on "Women and Her Ways." "When Wilderness Was King" is just at its most interesting portion and chapter 15 is well worth reading. Richard Byrd writes of "Some Fur Bearers," George H. Maxwell tells of the education for efficiency while Jean Wellington has a story for boys "After School Lets Out." Then there is a bit of stage gossip and also the children's page. The entire sixteen pages are well worth a careful reading.

ROCKFORD & INTERURBAN CO.
PLANS FOR NEW SIDINGS

One Between Janesville and Beloit
and Three For Balance of Line
Are Under Consideration.

Three new switch tracks between Rockford and Beloit and one between Beloit and Janesville are to be installed by the Rockford & Interurban Co.
during the approaching summer. It plans now under contemplation are realized. The new sidings are expected to make schedule time possible in running the cars. "Heretofore, when business for one car has been unexpectedly brisk, necessitating many extra stops, the delay has often thrown the whole system off schedule, the switching being so far apart that long waits on them, sometimes of fifteen minutes duration, were unavoidable.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST.

Fair tonight and Friday; colder in east tonight.

SMOOT VINDICATED

By a two-thirds vote Senator Reed Smoot was vindicated by the United States Senators yesterday and will retain his seat in that august body. The question of Smoot and Mormonism has stirred the country, particularly the western country, for four years past. By the vote of yesterday this famous debate has been relegated to the yesterday and the country will go on existing just as it did before. Nothing was brought up personally against Mr. Smoot himself, but against his religion. The question as to whether he was eligible for the office personally was lost sight of and the attack has been directed upon the Mormon church and Mormon people.

The senate admittedly was the judge of the qualifications of its members, and it can go outside of the federal constitution and exclude Mormons or Baptists or Jews or Roman Catholics or Congregationalists if it chooses to do so. But if it had begun on the Mormons it ought, logically, to go through the whole list and finally limit membership in the senate to statesmen who have no religion at all. It could probably get a quorum even under that limitation. The outcry against the Mormon church was based not upon the teachings of that church today but upon its teachings a quarter of a century or longer ago. It is charged, with having taught treason and polygamy, though it is expressly denied that those things are taught in the Mormon church now. Still, a certain class of people, most of them women, demanded that Smoot should be kept out of the senate.

If Smoot had been excluded because of the past sins of the church he belongs to the senate would have been consistent if it did not apply the same test to the members of all the other churches represented in the senate, for if we go back far enough there are few creeds that will not show certain unpleasant blemishes. It is not necessary to particularize. It is sufficient to say that the Mormon church would probably hold its own fairly well in a general investigation of past records.

No such investigation is probable, however. The outcry was all against Mormonism. The American public, or a certain section of it, is like the British public as described by Macaulay. It has periodical fits of morality and in these fits it is entirely unreasonable.

The Smoot case is a companion piece to the army canteen business. In both instances the agitation has been utterly ill advised, emotional and unjust.

A SALOON SUBSTITUTE

In the March number of the Century Magazine William H. Tolman writes of the "Workingmen's Gardens in France" and suggests that such gardens established in America might be one of the methods of solving the saloon problem that confronts the American workman's home. He says:

"As a saloon substitute for workingmen's gardens are in the front rank. On my little plot, said a father of four children, I have paid for my rent twice; once with the crop, I have raised, and a second time with what I have saved in not going to the saloon."

"The garden is a kind of safety valve, where the man can work off his extra steam. If by chance he lives in one room, he can go to his little plot instead of seeking the distraction which he finds in the saloon. The rapid growth of tuberculosis, a city disease, is made easier by the unhealthy homes where so often the workingmen must live; in the open air he can overcome that dread disease, if its ravages have not gone too far."

INTERNATIONAL BARGAINING

The days of the oldtime general treaty of commerce between nations are apparently numbered. Those in force now are survivals. Business relations between any two nations are becoming more and more a matter of specific bargaining. Commissions familiar with the industrial and commercial developments of negotiating countries are now relied upon to determine the form of trade arrangement which shall prevail. In these arrangements a definite status is given to practically every article of trade. Each country has in mind the things which it wishes to sell and it searches the circuit of nations to find out where it may obtain the best possible concessions in putting its goods upon the market, says the Wall Street Journal. While the actual selling is done by individuals the government defines, in its commercial treaty arrangements, the limits within which one kind or another of charges are to be borne by commerce between the two countries.

The principle which dominates international bargaining is now best expressed in the term reciprocity. It is a case of giving and taking, resulting in the main in equalizing the advantages which each gains from the other. Another principle of international bargaining is that of eliminating discrimination. The most favored nation agreement is possibly the most general expression of the principle that one nation shall not discriminate against another to any greater extent than it does against a third nation having similar treaty relations with it. This principle has always been effective in eliminating much that was capricious and vexing in the treatment of international trade.

But even this principle has ceased to have the restraining effect of former times. The United States has taken the view that the favored nation principle is itself a matter of bargaining. It admits the right of favored nation treatment, but makes the specific kind of treatment for any article a matter of conventional agreement between the parties concerned. While European governments have not taken this view as a rule, the effect of the American view has been to throw the emphasis upon the skill of negotiators rather than upon the statement of any principle from which status of any specific article of trade could be defined.

More and more, treaty making has become a profession somewhat distinct from that of the diplomat and allied to that of the merchant familiar with the conditions not only of production but also of commercial distribution. The tendency is to throw these responsible pieces of work into the hands of highly specialized commissions whose members are thoroughly familiar with all the details involved. Germany has her standing committee on trade treaties, which is a voluntary organization. The United States has relied mainly on the senate committee on foreign relations, but the work of this committee is critical rather than constructive. The commission now reporting to the President on German trade relations is a step in the direction of a permanent commission. Only in this way are the grave issues likely to be met promptly and intelligently, as they arise. The time seems to be ripe for such a procedure. Whatever the outcome it will be watched with keen interest on account of its bearing upon our domestic and foreign commerce. The interests are too vast to be properly represented in any other way.

Tomorrow the nation celebrates the hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Could he look down upon this country today stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific he would hardly recognize the thirteen Atlantic states that formed the United States when he was President.

If the world at large is taught a lesson in morality from the Thaw trial and its revolting and disgusting testimony then it is worth the place and attention being bestowed upon it. It is not the time and space are wasted in merely satisfying the scandal-mongers' curiosity.

The Chicago papers are busy disclosing what has always existed in the dear old town, a coterie of gamblers who control the police department. These same virtuous newspapers knew these dens existed years ago, but it is only so often they take the subject up.

More aldermanic candidates are cropping out. The golden bait lures some, while good honest endeavor to see Janesville have a good form of government brings others to the front. These latter should receive the support of the taxpayers and voters.

Grover Cleveland has come out of his Princeton burrow and tomorrow will address the citizens of Chicago. This is the first time in years that the former president has spoken in a public meeting west of New York in many years.

Mr. Jerome does not believe Mrs. Thaw's story evidently, so he is testing her memory on details. From the encounter yesterday it is evident that the fair Evelyn is up to his tricks and could even tell more of Stanford White than she has.

Today the Chicago voters are to decide whether they want Harrison or Dunne to be the democratic standard-bearer. They may not get through today either, as the fight is a bitter one.

That boom that was headed towards Janesville has not entirely stopped. It is merely sidetracked to allow the people time to wake up and be ready for it when it does get here.

At the present time the question of a candidate for mayor is in the air, but it is possible that some one will reach up and pull it down before the primaries.

The Madison Journal gives the Milwaukee Free Press a well merited slap on the wrist in a recent article on United States Senator John C. Spooner.

Friday evening the University authorities will give the students, the legislature and the faculty a good square feed in the big gymnasium.

Pittsburg has still a few millionaires that have not done anything to bring them into the police court as yet.

Perhaps that groundhog was right after all. He may have known what he was about even though some people doubted it.

Mr. Shonts may have thrown up his Panama canal job so he could tell what he thinks about railway legislation.

Senator Tillman still holds the front of the stage with his jugglery of senatorial questions.

The Mayorality question is becoming more than a joke these days. People are thinking.

PRESS COMMENT.

Ladies First!

Houston Post: Mr. Bok says no gentleman should ever take a drink before his wife.

Anent Wreck of Larchmont

New York Herald: It is only when one reads of the actions of other steamboat men that one appreciates the real worth of John Hay's "Jim Bludso."

Boaster or Penitent

Nashville American: A Milwaukeean, 61 years of age, says: "No woman ever kissed me." It is hard to determine whether he is bragging, daring, or confessing his sins.

Question of Category Solved. Milwaukee Sentinel: The Boston women who want a ban on toy tin soldiers because they inculcate a spirit of militarism, may be an aspirant to the Nobel peace prize.

No Place for Doves

Omaha Bee: Mark Twain has adopted a dress suit made of white broadcloth. Mark evidently does not intend to accept any invitations to social functions in Pittsburg.

What About Scudder of Marinette? Eau Claire Telegram: Justice Marshall's campaign for re-election to the supreme bench seems to be moving along with no prospect that any other candidate will be in the field.

Mob Violence Anticipated

La Crosse Leader-Press: Fond du Lac, the new member of the state league, is another Freeport. The redoubtable manager of the La Crosse team may count on being mobbed the first Sunday game he plays there.

Sad-Sinker Tragedy

Green Bay Gazette: A Janesville man who stole thirty cents worth of doughnuts has been given a year in prison. This is pretty tough when it is considered that two to one the doughnuts weren't even digestible.

Still Unrewarded. Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: Chancellor Day's remark that "the poor are lazy" brings up the remembrance of the fact that not all the industry of the chancellor has attracted the attention of The Laird of Skibo or of the good Deacon Rockefeller.

Travel Less, But Are Purer. Milwaukee Journal: There are people who regret their inability to get a pass or even an interstate mileage book. But they enjoy the virtuous consciousness that they are no longer corrupted and they stay at home and know their own families better.

A Fundamental Right

Portland Oregonian: The attempt to Puritanize Sunday ought not to succeed. The right of a man to pass his time as he pleases is fundamental and holds good every day in the week. The only rational limitation of it is the equal right of others. No person may rightfully impose upon his neighbors his own Sabbatarian notions.

Slump in Champagne Market

Exchange: Less champagne was consumed in the United States last year than in 1905, the falling off causing the importers to sit up and take notice. The reason for this is obvious on reflection, however, as Harry Thaw has been locked up for several months and both Jimmy Hyde and Harry Lehr have gone to Europe.

Absorbing Scenes in Watertown. Marion Advertiser: Did you ever see girls sliding down hill on barrel staves? The other day when we were at Watertown (the place where you can't get anything much stronger) in passing a schoolhouse that stood on a raise of ground we saw a bevy of young women sliding down hill while standing on two barrel staves. We became so interested we missed the 1:15 train.

Always a Reason

New York World: Sometimes it is a rear-end collision. Sometimes it is an open switch. Sometimes it is a misread order. Sometimes it is a careless train dispatcher. Sometimes it is a broken rail or a broken axle or a broken flange. Sometimes it is a reckless engineer. But it is always something. Nothing interferes with the American railroad's beneficent work of reducing its patrons to pulp.

Thinks It a Wise Solution

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: While a good many people will be disappointed over failure to secure a 2-cent passenger rate, the decision will be satisfactory. It is far better that justice should be done the railroads than that a temporary advantage be gained at the cost of injustice which must, sooner or later, react upon the people themselves. The railroad commission is comprised of men well fitted for the responsibility of the work they had in hand. The people of Wisconsin have implicit confidence in them and will accept their decision as the wisest solution of the rate problem.

Family Mileage Book Plan

Oshkosh Northwestern: Nor should it be lost sight of that if the roads follow up the commission's suggestion with respect to family mileage books, to be sold at a flat two-cent rate, the people of this state will practically secure all the advantages of a two-cent rate without further delay. The suggested price of $10 for a 500-mile book is within the reach of every one who does any great amount of traveling during the course of a year, and by making such books usable by any member of the purchaser's family it would afford a very popular and satisfactory concession, which would also lead to a most valuable test of the claim that business will be increased by reducing fares. Meanwhile, the roads will still be able to collect two and a half cents per mile for passenger travel originating or extending outside the state, which will be a great advantage to them. Of course it is probable that some effort will still be made to induce the legislature to adopt a flat two-cent fare, but such effort should be frowned upon by the people if the latter wish to secure the full advantage of the commission's ruling. The latter has been based on careful investigation and scientific deductions, and the thing to do now is to give the new plan a trial before clamoring for further concessions.

Cut in Passenger Fares

La Crosse Leader-Press: The legislature, it is reported, may become impatient and take a short cut to the two-cent rate by passing an act putting it into force, but the wisdom of such a step is doubtful. Any rate fixed by state authority may be reviewed by the courts should the railway companies be dissatisfied. It would be difficult, none will deny, for the state to defend a two-cent fare in the courts after its own commission, appointed to examine into this very matter, had reported against the two-cent proposition. An attempt to precipitate a two-cent fare into litigation and probably would mean the maintenance of the three-cent rate until the courts had passed upon the points in controversy. Defeat for the state at the end of such suits, which might be counted upon in view of the unfavorable decision of its own experts, might even prevent the establishment of a two and a half cent rate at that time. The way of progress in this movement is, it is believed, the way of compromise and development. There is good reason to believe that the operation of the two and a half cent rate will hasten the adoption of the two-cent figure. The reduction now made by the commission, which it is understood, will be accepted without resistance by the carriers, should result in such increase in passenger traffic as early to convince both the carriers and the commission that the two-cent rate can be made profitable and to persuade the former to put it into force.

BRODHEAD CHURCHES FORTY YEARS OLD

Presbyterian Society Celebrating Today and Baptists Observed Birthday Yesterday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Brodhead, Wis., Feb. 21.—The Presbyterian society of this city celebrated the fortieth anniversary of the dedication of their church building today. Appropriate exercises were held in the church.

The Baptist church society celebrated the fortieth anniversary of the building of their church yesterday by appropriate exercises including a picnic dinner in Broughton's Annex and a lecture by Dr. Thomas of Chicago. An interesting time was reported.

It is reported plans are made for putting up new buildings in place of those recently destroyed by fire. In fact the insurance is being adjusted and we hope soon to see some fine new buildings among them being a departure from the old.

AVALON YOUNG LADY BRIDE OF PROSPEROUS DUNDEE, ILL., FARMER

Avalon, Feb. 21.—At two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 20, Miss Bessie Reid and Mr. Alexander Bunnie were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reid of Avalon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Davidson, pastor of the Congregational church at Emerald Grove.

The bride who is a very popular young lady was prettily gowned in a wine colored traveling suit. The groom, who is a respected and popular farmer of Dundee, Ill., was dressed for the occasion in the conventional black. Following the ceremony the company, which consisted of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom partook of an excellent wedding repast. Mr. and Mrs. Bunnie left for Chicago on the 5:24 train, amid a shower of rice. They will be "at home" on their farm near Dundee, Ill., after March 1.

"Mumping Day."

What is known in Lincolnshire as "Mumping" or "St. Thos. day," when women and children go from house to house begging money, food, or clothing, was observed recently in Lincoln city. Many residents make it a practice to give the "mumpers" a packet of tea or sugar, or provide them with a good meal.—London Standard.

NO STRIKING CLOCKS FOR HIM.

He Had One, but Its Erratic Methods Made Trouble.

"One thing I have always wanted is a clock that strikes," said Robert Mateer of the Wabash, according to the Kansas City Star. "Such clocks were a necessary part of household furnishings when I was a boy. Well, I found one on the table Christmas bearing a card, upon which was written my name. Before I got the clock I was in trouble trying to see the time in the early hours without setting fire to the house. Of course, I expected the clock to put an end to my woes. The next morning after Christmas it worked all right and as I lay awake, I heard it strike six and hustled out for work."

"The next morning I was awakened by hearing the clock strike six and without further ado packed myself down to office, only to find I was three hours ahead of time, after waiting 20 or 30 minutes for an owl car to boot."

"The following morning I again heard it strike, but as I counted only four strokes I turned over for another snooze. When I awoke I found I had overslept two hours."

"I've reformed on the clock proposition," concluded Mr. Mateer, "and all I desire now is a strong, sharp ax."

Accidental Discoveries

Chance or accident has played an important role in both discovery and invention. Nathaniel Hayward once noted that sulphur deprived rubber of stickiness. Goodyear came along, combined some rubber and sulphur by way of experiment, and quite by accident, overturned some of the mixture upon a hot stove. He saw in a moment that heat was essential to making rubber impervious to vulcanization.

"Aw, why don't yer talk about the devil?" was Bobby's query. "I know somethin' g'bout the devil."

"ALWAYS BUSY."

Recently one of Dr. Richards' patients caught sight of his daily appointment book which showed that almost every working hour of his time for weeks and weeks back had been filled to the limit.

The office reception room outside was also full of waiting patients. The party mentioned that things looked pretty busy around there.

"Yes," said Dr. Richards, "they do." "But no more today than it always is with me nowadays."

"Well, you ought to be busy," replied the party. "Any man who makes the effort to do painless work deserves the support of the public."

And there's truth in that statement. People appreciate the efforts of a man who endeavors to alleviate their sufferings.

They often enter his office as white as a sheet.

Fear deprives them of power to control their nerves and

Some actually scream before they get in his operating chair.

But under his considerate care they soon find their fears groundless, and depart with a different opinion of one dentist at least.

"Once a patient of Dr. Richards, always a patient," is the usual outcome when people put aside their prejudices and are fair-minded.

NINE NEW BOATS TESTING WORTH OF FOR JANESVILLE

BOOM THIS SUMMER IN RIVER NAVIGATION.

FOUR 26-FOOTERS ON WAYS

And Two More Are Being Constructed in Local Shipyards—Three Coming from Muskegon.

That automobilism is not to be the all-engrossing sport hereabouts during the coming summer is evidenced by the renewed activity among the river launch owners. No less than fifty of these little craft will tie up at Janesville wharves during the approaching season and the fleet will include at least a dozen new ones.

The New Launches
Charles Graves is building four twenty-six footers of the semi-torpedo model, which will be fitted out with 10-horsepower two-cylinder engines. One is for his own use, another for Harry Whitmore, a third for Harry Nowlan, and the fourth one for the chance buyer. Charles Schwartz, Fred Burpee, and Charles H. Weirick have ordered 18-footers with 3-horsepower engines from the Racine Boat Co. at Muskegon. John Allen and Frank Dewey are building two launches which will be provided with 6-horsepower engines.

Fascinating Sport
Last year there were 37 gasoline launches, several house-boats, and a steamer, owned in Janesville, which navigated the Rock and the fascinating sport has resulted in the building of many little summer homes and enhancing the value of property along the banks of this beautiful river. The boom in yachting circles this season ought to result in the formation of a strong, active boat club to enforce the navigation laws and secure co-operation in improving the channel.

TESTING WORTH OF THE CROSBY STOKER

Northwestern Has Cornelius Sullivan of Janesville, Trying New Automatic Apparatus.

Seeking to solve the problem of firing big engines, the North-Western railway company is now experimenting with the Crosby automatic stoker. These trials are being made by Cornelius Sullivan of Janesville, who was recently appointed traveling fireman for Wisconsin. Locomotive number 1073, one of the largest in the service, has been fitted with one of these stokers and made a trip from Chicago to Janesville and return today. Mr. Sullivan is much pleased with the apparatus and pronounces it far superior to any other similar arrangement. The coal is taken and conveyed from the tender by an auger and then by revolving knives which are broken and hurled through a nozzle into the fire box. The nozzle can be pointed to any portion of the box by the operation of levers. The power for the stoker is furnished by a small turbine engine and 1,900 to 2,000 revolutions per minute is the speed attained by the knives. Besides working almost noiselessly the new stoker has the advantage over all others of not interfering with other work on the engine. The conveyor can be lifted from the deck and placed upright in the tender and the door of the fire box is opened as easily as if there were no turbine attached.

No School Tomorrow: Tomorrow being Washington's birthday the public schools of the city will be closed.

For Drunkenness: Martin Anderson pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness in municipal court this morning. Sentence was suspended on condition that he leave the precincts of the city forthwith.

An Opportunity You Should Not Miss: The entire change to be made in the front of the old Lowell store, will, when completed, make one of the handsomest fronts in Janesville.

During the progress of the work it is the intention of the Leonard-Underwood Co. to make a clean sweep of the stock. A partition will be constructed cutting off the grocery entrance but you'll find a welcome at the dry goods entrance. Prices have been so reduced that every article in the salesroom is a bargain and by reference to their advertisements you will no doubt find something that you need at a price you can afford to pay.

Proper Interior Decoration: Mrs. Mary L. Bookwalter, in a talk the other day on the subject of interior decoration, said that "the average home is a jungle of unrelated things, most of them a burden to the housekeeper, the maid and the breadwinner, to say nothing of the guest." Correct lines, harmony of color, and restraint in ornament were among the things she recommended.

REGENTS CONTROL UNIVERSITY FUNDS

President Van Hise Explains Financial Management of State University.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 21.—A consideration of the recent criticism concerning the methods of government of the university constituted an important part of the report of President Charles R. Van Hise made to the regents of the university at the regular meeting of that body. In reviewing the method of financial management of the institution, he showed that the annual budget and all expenditures were controlled directly by the regents. The financial responsibility, he pointed out, is not in the hands of the president and never has been. Although the investigation committee of the legislature considered the whole subject in detail, they decided to recommend no change in the present system of financial control.

Regents Control Finances.
The government of the university has been criticised on the ground that the regents have not exercised their full power and responsibility in financial affairs," said President Van Hise.

"A review of the method of procedure in financial matters, however, shows that the regents give all financial orders and are therefore responsible for the expenditures of the institution. The president, in consultation with the deans, directors, superintendents, and other executive officers, make up the preliminary draft of the budget for each year. The budget, under the by-laws, is submitted to the finance committee of the regents, who review it item by item, and revise it to any extent that they deem advisable. After the budget is revised by the finance committee, it is sent to each of the regents in advance of the regular April meeting of the board. The budget thus made up is the basis for action upon proposed expenditures during the year. No expenditure is made without a requisition from the proper official. The requisition is only approved by the president in case he believes the expenditures to be a wise one, and finds the same to be within the budget appropriation. Requisitions thus approved by the president must go before the executive committee and be passed by them. All financial orders are made by the secretary of the regents only upon action of the executive committee or the board. It therefore appears that the regents give all financial orders and are responsible for the expenditures of the institution."

Approves Present Plan.
"It has been suggested that all financial responsibility be taken out of the hands of the president," continued Dr. Van Hise. "Financial responsibility is not, and so far as I know, never has been in the hands of the president. It may be the intent of those making the criticism as to finances to suggest the proposal for expenditure should come from other sources than the educational officers. It is to be said, however, that the university is an educational institution, and that the largest possible percentage should go for salaries of professors and for the purchase of apparatus and books. Upon these matters no business or financial board can possibly take the place of the educational officers. The present plan of financial control by which the educational officers propose expenditures and the regents and executive committee review and order executed such expenditures to meet their approval, which for many years has been in force at the university, seems to me the only rational method of procedure for an educational institution. The subject of financial control was gone over fully with the legislative investigating committee, and after full consideration they recommended no change."

MORTUARY MENTION.

PLAYGROUNDS IN CITIES ADVOCATED

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT STRONGLY URGES THEM.

TO MAKE GOOD CITIZENS

Roosevelt's Mislike Read and Speeches Made at Banquet of Washington Playgrounds Association.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Municipal playgrounds within easy walking distance of every boy and girl in the large cities was advocated Wednesday night by President Roosevelt in a letter, and by Representative Boutwell of Chicago; E. E. Brown, United States commissioner of education; Henry S. Curtis, superintendent of Washington playgrounds, and other speakers at a "playgrounds banquet" given under the auspices of the Washington Playgrounds Association. Cuno H. Rudolph, president of the association, acted as toastmaster, and 150 guests were present.

"Playgrounds as a Municipal Undertaking," was the subject of Mr. Boutwell's address. He explained the object of his bill, which is now pending in congress, for the establishment of additional playgrounds in Washington, and pointed out that an example set by the national capital would serve as an object lesson to all the cities of the United States. "The establishment of playgrounds is the best thing to make good citizens of our boys and girls," he said, "and should go hand in hand with the public schools of the municipalities of the nation."

Commented by the President.

President Roosevelt in his letter, addressed to Mr. Rudolph, strongly commended the renewed interest in play and playgrounds throughout the country. He advocated municipal provision for playgrounds "for every child as much as schools," these to be within easy walking distance of every boy and girl and properly supervised by the cities.

He urged cities to secure the available grounds at once, in order to avoid the necessity of later demolishing blocks of buildings to secure such space, and he particularly commended the plan of playground development in this city as tending toward making the nation's capital a model city.

The Value of Play.

"The new appreciation of the value of play in the development of children is shown in many ways," wrote Mr. Roosevelt. "The physical trainers in all of their recent meetings have put a new emphasis on the importance of play and are giving a larger place to it in their work. The Public School Athletic League of New York has organized athletics along sane and helpful lines for thousands of school children, and a number of other cities seem to be about to take up this movement. There is a general feeling in our schools and colleges also for larger athletic fields and the participation of a larger proportion of the students in athletic events."

"Play at present is almost the only method of physical development for city children, and we must provide facilities for it if we would have the children strong and law-abiding. We have raised the age at which the child may go to work and increased the number of school years. These changes involve increased expense for parents with decreased return from the child. If we do not allow the children to work we must provide some other place than the streets for their leisure time."

Ptomaine Kill Two Children.

Hillsboro, O., Feb. 21.—The three-year-old son and five-year-old daughter of Fred Fenner, a prominent farmer living two miles south of this city, died Wednesday afternoon of ptomaine poisoning. MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Janesville People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first; But when you know 'tis from the kidneys; That serious kidney troubles follow; That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end; You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Janesville citizen.

Mrs. W. Johnson of 127 Pearl St., Janesville, Wis., says:

"For a long time I had severe pains in my back that must have been due to some disorder of the kidneys. It was almost constant aching and misery in the small of my back and became so severe at times that I was almost prostrated. Numerous remedies that I tried failed to help me and finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills which I had seen highly recommended by local people, procured at the People's Drug Company. After using this remedy for a short time I found a complete cure, and the trouble has not returned."

BUYING A WAGON

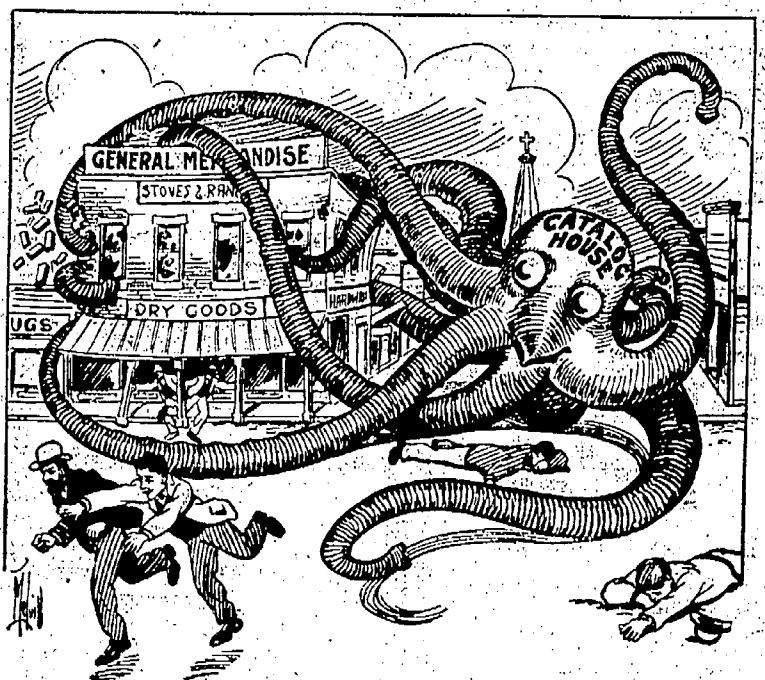

How Mr. Brown Got the Worst of Two Bargains.

TRIED MAIL-ORDER METHODS

Thought He Was Saving Money, But Will Not Try the Same Thing a Second Time—Buying at Home Pays.

(Copyrighted, 1906, by Alfred C. Clark) Mr. Brown, a farmer living in Boone county, Mo., decided to buy a spring wagon. The next time he was in town he went to the local dealer to see what he had in stock. One wagon that suited him was offered to him at $75. He thought he would take it, but before ordering he looked over a mail order vehicle catalogue. Here he saw described a wagon which, as far as description went, was the same as the one he saw in the dealer's store room. In fact, the description was written in such a convincing manner and all the good points of the mail order vehicle were brought out so thoroughly that it appeared to be superior to the other one. And the price was only $67.45. Mr. Brown thought of the saving of $7.55 which represented several days of hard work. The more he thought about it the more he wanted to save that amount and in the end the Chicago mail order concern got his check.

When the wagon finally arrived, with a freight bill of $4.50, he rode to town with his son and spent half a day putting it together. He had to buy a screw driver and some oil and sand paper and a few bolts to replace some that had been lost in shipment.

Like the terrible devil fish the catalogue house is death to everything that gets within its grasp. Once its death-dealing tentacles have wound around your community, there is no escape. Are you assailing the greedy monster by sending your dollar to the mail order house.

All of these cost him 75 cents. He was not experienced at putting spring wagons together and he didn't do a very good job of it, for one of the seats refused to sit in the right place and he had to get a local blacksmith to help him fix it. This cost him another half dollar and delayed him so much that he and the boy had to go to the hotel for their dinners; an additional expense of 70 cents. So before he got his team hitched to the wagon it cost him $73.90, allowing him a saving of $1.10, which was very stingy pay for the time he had lost. Of the amount he spent for the wagon, only $1.95 remained in Boone county. The railroads and the mail order house got the rest of it.

In the meantime his neighbor, Mr. Jones, bought the $75 wagon from the local dealer, who made a profit of $16 on the sale. As the vehicle was already assembled and there were no extra parts or tools to buy, the amount paid for the wagon represented all of the cost to Mr. Jones. The dealer spent the $16 profit for a new sign on his building; the sign painter hired a carpenter to repair the roof on his house; the carpenter paid his bill at the butcher's, and the butcher bought a hog from Mr. Jones. And so the $16 kept going in the county until a farmer with the mail order habit got hold of it. He sent it to Chicago and it never came back.

But this wasn't the last of the two purchases. A few weeks after the two wagons were bought, Mr. Brown's boy and Mr. Jones' boy, driving the new vehicles, met on the country road. They drove too close to each other and a smash-up resulted. The weakest part of each wagon gave way; an axle on the mail order product was broken and a doubletree on the other was smashed. Both breaks were plainly because of defective construction. Mr. Jones took his broken doubletree to town the next day and the dealer gave him a new one. Mr. Brown attempted to explain to the Chicago firm that the axle would not have broken if it had not been defective and it coupled this explanation with a request for a new part, but after several weeks of correspondence with the piece as far away as at the beginning, he gave it up and bought the axle himself. This experience told Mr. Brown why he should trade with home merchants instead of patronizing the mail order houses.

In Boone county and in every other county there are many who send thousands of dollars out of the county every year without ever considering the fact that they are making their community poorer, reducing the per capita of wealth, and dwarfing local business, only to enrich a concern already rich enough to buy several counties. An extra thousand dollars in any community will mean, during the year, many thousands of dollars in business transacted and increased income for practically every one in the community. Often the amount sent to the mail order houses is more than enough to turn the balance the other way and business depression exists where prosperity would prevail under normal conditions. Even if the country purchaser was able to save a snug sum by ordering his supplies from a mail order house, the loss to the community would be greater than the gain for himself. It is needless to point out that as the amount of the mail order business from any community increases the amount of loss to the community also increases, until it is only a question of time until the individual loss caused by the general depression of business will exceed the individual saving.

Touch Not a Single Inch!

Gillette Times: "Not one inch of Oconto county's territory must be surrendered to feather the nests of county seat promoters and grafters.

In fact if everyone in the community bought from the mail order houses, local markets would disappear and the farmer would be compelled to sell as well as buy from the catalogue concerns. The rural districts would be devoid of business activity while the wealth of the country would be centered in one or two points. Buying by mail may be attractive, but the most pronounced mail order fiend must look with apprehension on any condition whereby he would be compelled to depend on the mail order man for a market for his products.

But the idea of saving on individual purchases is, to a great extent, a fallacy. In spite of his boasted ability to buy in large quantities, he is not able to buy for much less than the country merchant. Competition in all manufactured products is too keen for that. And the small saving he is able to make by large purchases is more than offset by his larger expenses. These expenses must come out of the purchase so the mail order man is compelled to make a larger profit than the local dealer. It costs him more to market his goods. He must maintain a large and expensive office force, and be must advertise. As an example of what the mail order man expects to make out of his customers, a letter written by a prominent mail order man might be quoted. Writing to a magazine he said: "Advertising in your publication cost us 17 cents an inquiry and we made sales at a cost of only 56 cents each for advertising. This is about half of our regular cost." This man was selling "A complete outfit of clothes for $9.95." He was willing to pay a dollar for each sale the advertising brought him. Ask your local dealer how long he could keep the sheriff away from his doors if he took a dollar out of every ten dollar sale.

You can't buy the same class of goods any cheaper from the catalogue houses than from the local dealer, though one may think he can after reading the catalogues. The difference comes in the quality of the goods. There is a particular class of goods known as "mail order goods." This trade term is applied to cheap, but showy goods and novelties which can be sold at a large profit. It means much the same thing as "street fair goods" and, as is the case with street fair goods, mail order goods are not handled by the regular jobbers and wholesalers. They cannot afford to handle them because their customers want better merchandise. The street fair duplicates, in appearance, the jewelry carried by a first class jewelry house and makes large profits. The catalogue merchant does the same thing but does it on a larger scale and much more cleverly.

To Domesticate a Cat.

It is said that an unfeeling remedy for a cat that will not accustom itself to a new home is to grease its feet thoroughly with butter and put it down the cellar. When it has licked its feet clean it will be thoroughly domesticated and will cause no further trouble by running away.

TO THE PEOPLE OF JANESVILLE A PROCLAMATION

BY SMITH DRUG COMPANY

Inasmuch as it has always been our policy to take the people of Janesville into our confidence in all matters pertaining to VINOL it is with pleasure that we are here able to present an illustrated exhibit of the process through which VINOL passes in its manufacture.

This exhibit not only demonstrates the fact that VINOL is a real scientific preparation made from fresh cods' livers, but shows by illustration every ingredient of which VINOL is made. This proves to the people of Janesville that VINOL not only complies with all conditions of the new Pure Food and Drugs Law, but always has done so, inasmuch as its ingredients have always been made public and its qualifications never misrepresented.

We are sorry we cannot print in the Gazette this exhibit in the natural colors of the material contained in the different jars. We have a booklet showing this exhibit lithographed in colors, a copy of which we will be glad to hand to anyone asking for it at our store. These newspaper illustrations, however, will serve to assure our customers and friends that VINOL is in no way a secret preparation, but is as ethical as any preparation put up or prescribed by anyone.

Magma of Iron Peptonate. (Organic Iron) Made by Chemically Combining Iron Oxide with Steel Peptonate.

Fifteen Per Cent. Solution of the Iron Peptonate (Organic Iron)

The Finished Preparation. Containing the Concentrated Extract of the Cod's Liver and Solution of Iron Peptonate in pure native wine.

In making VINOL, the Fresh Cod's Livers go through the several stages represented by these illustrations, reproduced from the originals, all of which proves that VINOL is a real Cod Liver preparation, made by a scientific process which eliminates the oil and retains the valuable medicinal extractives.

We ask you to study this exhibit so you will fully understand how the valuable medicinal extractives are recovered from genuine fresh cods' livers and the unnecessary oil omitted. This will show you conclusively that VINOL is not made of drugs or chemicals which are said to resemble the medicinal elements found in cod liver oil but that VINOL actually does contain in a highly concentrated form all the medicinal extractives of cod liver oil, actually taken from genuine fresh cods' livers, together with organic iron—a needful constituent for the blood—dissolved in a pure native wine as a preservative. VINOL unlike oily preparations, is easily digested and agreeable to the weakest stomach. For these reasons we believe

VINOL is far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions for coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles, and as a body builder and strength creator for old people, decalate children, weak, run-down persons and after sickness.

Know, therefore, all persons who are in need of such a medicine that we will supply them with VINOL on a positive guarantee that if it does not succeed in benefitting them, we will refund the entire amount of money paid us for the medicine.

You see OUR FAITH in VINOL, and you must admit that we know something about medicine; therefore, when we tell you that VINOL is the most valuable Cod Liver preparation on the market, and a wonderful tonic-reconstructor and builder of strength, appetite, and health at the same time, delicious to taste, we are not unreasonable to expect you to believe us.

Has Heart Like Human Being.

To discover the heart of an oyster, the fold of flesh which oystermen call the "mantle" must be removed. This is fatal to the oyster, of course, but in the interest of science and for the benefit of the "curious," it is occasionally done. When the mantle has been removed the heart, shaped like a crescent or horned insect, is laid to the view. The oyster's heart is made up of two parts, just like that of a human being, one of which receives the blood from the gills and the other drives it out through the arteries.

Querer Idea of a Joke.

It is alleged that an English gentleman once told of a great joke he played on a friend. He was coming along the street with some companions and he discovered his friend's house on fire with his friend in the third story window shouting for help. "Jump!" he cried. "What was the joke?" the hearer asked. "Why," the Englishman replied, "we had no blanket at all."

Joax—Yes; even the hen realizes that it's impossible to reform a bad egg.

THE HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON
Author of "THE MAN WHO WAS A DOG" and "THE DOG WHO WAS A MAN"

I did not wait for an answer. I was not in a mood for reflection or nice distinctions. The man came in just then with a fresh plate of toast.

"Bates," Mr. Pickering has learned that I was away from the house on the night of the attack, and I'm ordered off for having broken my agreement to stay here. How do you suppose he heard of it so promptly?"

"From Morgan, quite possibly. I have a letter from Mr. Pickering myself this morning. Just a moment, sir."

He placed before me a note bearing the same date as my own. It was a sharp rebuke of Bates for his failure to report my absence promptly by wire, and he was ordered to prepare to leave on the first of February. "Close your accounts at the shopkeepers' and I will add your bills on my arrival."

The tone was peremptory and contemptuous. Bates had failed to satisfy Pickering and was flung off like a smoked-out cigar.

"How much had he allowed you for expenses, Bates?"

"He met my gaze intently."

"He pays me $50 a month as wages, sir, and I am allowed $75 for other expenses."

"But you didn't buy English pheasants and champagne on that allowance?"

"He was carrying away the coffee tray and his eyes wandered to the windows."

"Not quite, sir. You see—"

"But I don't see!"

"It had occurred to me that as Mr. Pickering's allowance wasn't what you might call generous it was better to augment it. Well, sir, I took the liberty of advancing a trifle, as you might say, to the estate. Your grandfather would not have had you starve, sir."

"He left hurriedly, as though to escape from the consequences of his words, and when I came to myself Larry was gloomily invoking his strange Irish gods."

"Larry Donovan, I've been tempted to kill that fellow a dozen times! This thing is too damned complicated for me. I wish my lamented grandfather had left me something easy. To think of it—that all the time I've been cursing and abusing Bates since I came here I've been enjoying his bounty—and he's been giving me the fat of the land, just because of his devotion to my grandfather's memory. Lord, I can't face the fellow again!"

"As I have said before, you're rather lacking at times in perspicacity. Your intelligence is marred by large opaque spots. Now that there seems to be a woman in the case you're less sane than ever. Bah, these women! And now we've got to go to work."

"Bah, these women! My own heart caught the words. I was enraged and bitter. No wonder she had been anxious for me to avoid Pickering in Cincinnati, after daring me to follow her there!"

We called a council of war for that night that we might view matters in the light of Pickering's letter. His assuredness in ordering me to leave made prompt and decisive action necessary on my part. I summoned Stoddard to our conference, feeling confident of his friendliness.

"Of course," said the broad-shouldered chaplain, "if you could show that your absence was on business of very grave importance, the courts might construe in your favor."

Larry looked at the ceiling and blew rings of smoke languidly. I had not disclosed to either of them the cause of my absence. On such a matter, I knew I should get precious little sympathy from Larry, and I had, moreover, a feeling that I could not discuss Marian Doveaux with any one. I even shrank from mentioning her name.

"What's that?" There's some one up stairs!"

Larry was already running toward the hall, and I heard him springing up the steps like a cat, while Stoddard and I followed.

"Where's Bates?" demanded the chaplain.

"I thank you for the answer," I replied.

Larry stood at the top of the staircase, holding a candle at arm's length in front of him, staring about.

"We could hear quite distinctly some one walking down a stairway; the sounds were unmistakable, just as I had heard them on two previous occasions, without ever being able to trace their source."

The noise ceased suddenly, leaving us with no hint of its whereabouts.

I went directly to the rear of the house and found Bates putting the dishes away in the pantry.

"Where have you been?" I demanded.

"Here, sir, I have been clearing up the dinner things, Mr. Glenarm. Is there anything the matter, sir?"

"Nothing."

I joined the others in the library.

"Why didn't you tell me this feudal imitation was haunted?" asked Larry in a grieved tone. "I'm increasingly glad I came. How often does it walk?"

"This is the third time," I admitted.

"It's the wind in the tower probably; the wind plays queer pranks sometimes."

"You'll have to do better than that, Glenarm," laughed Stoddard. "It's as still outside as a country graveyard."

"Only the slough side, the people of the world," said Larry. "You literal Saxons can't grasp the idea, of course."

"But there was substance enough in our dangers without pursuing shadows. Certain things were planned that night. We determined to exercise every precaution to prevent a surprise from without, and we resolved upon a new and systematic sounding of walls and floors, taking our cue from the efforts made by Morgan and his ally to find hiding places by this process. Pickering would undoubtedly arrive shortly, and we wished to anticipate his movements as far as possible."

Don't Neglect It

It is a serious mistake to neglect a weak heart. It is such a short step to chronic heart disease. When you notice irregularity of action, occasional short breath, palpitation, fluttering, pain in chest or difficulty in lying on left side, your heart needs help—a strengthening tonic. There is no better remedy than Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. Its strengthening influence is felt almost at once.

"I have used 10 bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and can truthfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever used and I have tried nearly everything that I know of. The doctor who attended me asked me what I was taking and I told him Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, he said it was not going to do me any good, but it did. I have not taken any for a year now, and while there is occasionally a slight symptom of the old trouble, it is not enough for me to continue the use of the medicine. If I should get worse I would know what to do. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure as I did before. I consider myself practically cured of my heart trouble."

PROTESTS FROM ODESSA

FOREIGN CONSULS SEEK TO HAVE OUTRAGES THERE STOPPED.

Governor General Kaulbars Merely Threatens Union of True Russians—Shameful Treatment of Jews.

Paris, Feb. 21. 3 a. m.—It is reported from St. Petersburg that a massacre of the Jews is proceeding in Odessa.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 21.—The foreign consuls at Odessa have sent telegrams to their respective embassies here, saying that the lives of their fellow subjects are insecure, and that the situation growing out of the anti-Semitic disturbances is serious.

The Austrian charge d'affaires, at the request of the Austrian consul at Odessa, Wednesday made representations to the foreign office with the view of obtaining protection for Austrian subjects at Odessa. Austrian, German and Italian residents of Odessa have been attacked upon the streets, but so far as is known no Englishman or American has been molested. Ambassador Riddle has heard nothing from Mr. Heenan, the American consul at Odessa.

Odessa, Feb. 21.—Gen. Kaulbars, the governor general of Odessa, has at last been compelled to take action against the Union of True Russians for their outrages upon Jews, although only to the extent of threatening them if the recent attacks upon citizens are repeated. Both the universities here and many of the high schools have been closed as a protest against the outrages.

Wednesday evening two sailors shot and killed Capt. Zolotareff, who had arrested some of their comrades who were on strike.

"Street attacks by the Union of True Russians are daily assuming a more dangerous character and have brought about a condition of extreme nervousness among the residents of this city, especially the Jews. Business has been adversely affected, the grain bourse has been closed and financial transactions have practically suspended."

Gangs of youths invade shops and restaurants belonging to Jews, order the proprietors to throw up their hands and then plunder and ransack the premises. Wednesday a Jew drew a revolver in self-defense. He was immediately seized and conveyed to a deserted courtyard, where his arms and legs were cut off. Pedestrians are stopped in broad daylight and asked whether they are Jews or Christians, and sometimes they are made to produce their passports. If they are Jews they are brutally beaten.

BAILEY WARNED OIL TRUST.

Says He Told Its Officials It Could Not Reenter Texas.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 21.—Before the investigating committee of the house and senate Wednesday Senator Bailey continued the story of his financial deals with various financiers.

One of his most important statements was that he had been asked by the Standard Oil officials in New York immediately after the Beaumont oil field boom, to give them an opinion as to what the opportunities were for them to reenter the state and do business.

"I gave them a written opinion in which I stated that if they attempted to do business in the state they would be put in the penitentiary and their property absorbed in fines and penalties," said Senator Bailey.

SENSATION IN ADAMS TRIAL.

Crazy Man Announces That He Murdered Fred Tyler.

Wallace, Idaho, Feb. 21.—"It is the heart that moved the hand. I am the man that killed Fred Tyler. Turn all these other fellows loose, for I am the man that did the deed."

This was the announcement which startled Judge Wood's court Wednesday morning. A small, dark stranger with long, black hair and a stubby beard, was standing up beside Stove Adams, proclaiming himself guilty of the crime for which Adams is on trial.

A commotion ensued. Mrs. Adams burst into tears. Adams himself turned pale.

Seized by two officers, the dark stranger was hurried from the courtroom to the sheriff's office. There he said his name was Patrick C. Ryan, of Butte, that he had just finished a term in Deer Lodge penitentiary for stealing mutton, and after being released he had gone to Burke, where Roosevelt's daughter had told him to come to Wallace and take charge of this case. He said if Adams was convicted an earthquake would destroy the Coeur d'Alenes. Ryan will be committed to an asylum.

Nebraska for Woman Suffrage.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 21.—The senate adopted a joint memorial to congress Wednesday in favor of an amendment to the constitution permitting women to vote. The vote on adoption was a tie—15 to 16—Lieut. Gov. Hopewell deciding in its favor. The house adopted the anti-tipping bill.

VICTORIES FOR NICARAGUA.

Several Important Positions Captured from the Honduras Forces.

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 21.—The Nicaraguan army, under Generals Vasquez and Fornos, has defeated the forces of Honduras at several points, capturing important positions.

President Bonilla of Honduras has issued a proclamation in which recent events are distorted and appealing for recognition of the boundary question, which Nicaragua has not taken into consideration since the king of Spain rendered his award in the matter.

City of Mexico, Feb. 21.—First Assistant Secretary of State Alagarsa Wednesday afternoon made the following announcement:

"A telegram has been received by President Diaz from the president of Honduras saying that at four o'clock on the afternoon of the 15th the forces of Nicaragua and Honduras met on the border and a fight ensued. He characterized the encounter as a small affair. The president of Honduras declared that the Nicaraguans were defeated and compelled to retreat."

It is believed in Mexico City that the telegram from President Bonilla to President Diaz is tantamount to the non-acceptance of the offices of Mexico and the United States and that war between Honduras and Nicaragua is now certain.

Robert B. Glenn

Governor Robert B. Glenn of North Carolina was born in Rockingham county, N. C., on August 11, 1854, and first studied at the high school in Leaksville, N. C. He then attended Davidson college, N. C., and finished off at the University of Virginia. He was admitted to the practice of law in June, 1877. In January, 1878, he was married to Miss Nina D. Dedrick of Knoxville, Tenn. He represented Stokes county in the legislature of 1881. He was made solicitor for the courts in his district in 1885 and 1886 and served in the state senate in 1890. Governor Glenn has two children.

A Novelist's Mission.

The neglect of Disraeli's writings may be in part due to the fact that most people think it is below the dignity of a statesman, or of any man following what is called a "serious" profession, to compose works of fiction. Certainly, many, do not yet understand that the man who writes novels may be a very wise man, they do not realize that accurately to portray human nature and to present pictures of life is not only a most worthy, but also a most difficult task, requiring for its performance an intelligence far above the average, acute powers of observation, and a keen sense of humor. For surely the great novelist is the observer sounding the depths, while others glance at the surface and examine the mysteries of life, while others are content to overlook even the obvious. THE GOTCH-HACK MATCH.

Noted Wrestlers Meet In For World's Title In May in Kansas City.

An offer of a $10,000 purse for a wrestling bout between George Hackenschmidt, "the Russian Lion," and Frank Gotch, the American champion, will bring these two gladiators together. The Missouri Athletic club of Kansas City has offered that sum, and both wrestlers have accepted it. This is the largest sum ever offered for a wrestling match in this country.

No definite date has been settled upon, but it will likely not be held until May, as Hackenschmidt will complete his London engagements before sailing for this country. The winner will receive 75 per cent of this sum and the world's title.

C. C. Cochran, manager of Hackenschmidt, insists that $5,000 shall be posted in England and that there shall be a side bet of at least $1,000. The only possible hitch in the arrangement has to do with the selection of the referee.

Cochran wants the stakeholder in New York to be the referee. W. R. Scoville, president of the Missouri A. C., insists upon his club being permitted to name the referee.

While some men believe it would be a good match, the great majority think the American would not have a chance against the world's champion. The remarkable showing made by Hackenschmidt on his last visit here stamped him as being the greatest wrestler the American people had ever seen.

He has tackled the greatest wrestlers in the world and has never lost a match. Americans, Turks, Russians, Germans and other national champions have been defeated by this powerful giant. In his bout with Tom Jenkins at Madison Square Garden, New York, two years ago the Russian merely toyed with the American champion. When he got ready to throw Jenkins, Hackenschmidt simply grabbed his opponent, dragged him to the center of the mat, turned him around and pinned him squarely to the mat without much effort.

Hackenschmidt is a marvel of strength. He is five feet, ten inches in height and weighs 210 pounds. He has great breadth of chest and a small waist, tapering down gradually from his shoulders. His chest measurement is fifty-two inches, waist thirty-six inches, biceps nineteen inches and forearm fifteen inches. While the Russian's record has been perfect, Gotch has several times met defeat. Tom Jenkins twice beat him, and Fred Beel threw him in two straight falls.

Big Ed Walsh.

Big Ed Walsh pitched his first game for pay four years ago in Wilkesbarre, Pa. He received $45 a month that season, coming out of the mines to play ball. He shut Scranton out in the first game, and his catcher was Frank Burke, now with the New York Nationals, who could not hold Walsh's speed. From Wilkesbarre, Walsh went to Meriden, thence to Newark and thence to the Chicago American White Sox.

THE ROUNDUP COLUMN.

West Coast Fitz a Century Plant—Ugliest Horse a Mare.

Billy Phillips, trainer of Fred Cook's horses, relates an interesting story concerning Minnie Adams, Cook's two-time Kentucky Derby winner, being a man hater and the meanest mare on the American turf. He said of the star at the last meeting at Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky.:

"Minnie Adams is the only horse I ever saw that I am afraid of." She would kill me in an instant if opportunity presented itself. She is an unreliable performer, and I never bet on her but once, and that was the first time I sent her to the post. Minnie Adams is a mystery. She will not make up with her rubber, she refuses to be paged by any other horse, she has no use for a goat and no use on earth for a man. The closest individual to her is H. Smith, who weighs seventy-three pounds. He rides her in her workouts. Not long ago Minnie Adams tried to kill Dave Nicol. He only rides her in races.

"How do I train her? I let her have her own way. There is nothing else for me to do unless I want to take my life in my hands."

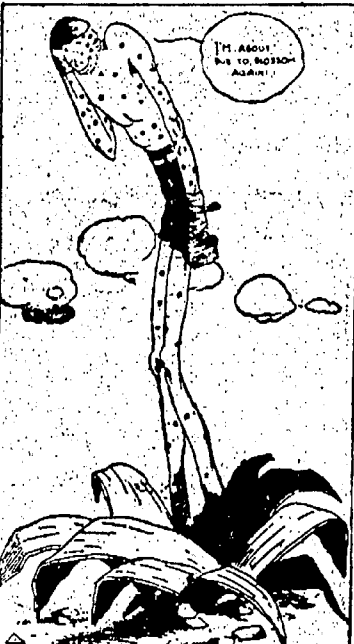

An estimable contemporary prints the following: "By declaring that he will not interfere to prevent prizefights the Rev. Governor Henry T. Buchtel, Colorado's new preacher-governor, will probably make his state the home of glove contests in the future."

"Oh, simple minded scribe! The governor is simply leading the sports on. He wants them to get their money invested in merry punch halls and then he will step in and put a crimp into them that will put them out of business for a long time."

John L. Sullivan, who is doing a theatrical stunt, declares that while he is a trifle heavy, he still feels strong enough to deliver a knockout blow. John's hair has turned white, but he says that it means nothing at all.

"They say I am an old man," remarked the former champion the other day. "Why, President Roosevelt is only twelve days older than I am, and who ever said he was an old man? I may be a trifle heavier than the president, but I am just as lively as he is and feel just as young as he does."

fight again, wants to meet anybody, from Tommy Burns and Jack O'Brien to Tommy Ryan.

Bob is the century plant of the prize ring. He thinks it's about time for him to bloom again. Some one will fracture his bloomin' neck if he doesn't watch out. Something worse than the goblins will get him: But then budding freckled youth is so skittish!

Bob is also the oldest inhabitant of the prize ring. He can remember back to the days of his youth. In spite of age, rheumatism and backaches he is still there with the heavy blow. Listen to him, and he'll convince you that he is the best blower in the game today.

Barney Dreyfuss is highly pleased at having added Stork, the Amherst and Providence third baseman, to the ranks of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Somebody told Barney "the Stork delivers the goods," and that is why the Pirate chief is pleased.

The success scored by Dartmouth university this winter at hockey, basketball and relay running places the college among the foremost in the country so far as athletics are concerned.

Peter Maher is the most unlucky fighter in the ring. He knocked out his mother-in-law in one punch and had to go to jail for it.

President Charles Spuds Murphy of the Chicago Nationals believes that the pride of ownership depends not so much upon what we have as upon what our neighbors haven't.

The pugilist swings his left because he feels that he has a right to do it.

It's the things we don't get that often make us the happiest. For instance, think how some prize fighters would feel if they had Billy Nolan for a manager.

When a fellow loses his money in a poker game it is entirely due to the way in which he was raised.

GAIN IN EGYPT'S POPULATION.

Next Census Is Expected to Show a Good Increase.

Egypt is to have a new census taken. Taking the census in Egypt, and, in fact, in all eastern countries, is an extremely difficult and delicate task, as from the time immemorial the ordeal has been looked upon with disfavour of orientals. The population of Egypt has been a very irregular one, varying in proportion as the country came under the subjection of successive invaders. Thus, when Egypt became a Roman province in B. C. 30 her population was estimated at about 15,000,000.

That peace counts for a great factor in the increase of Egyptian population can be proved by the fact that in 1897 the census gave the total as 9,734,455, or an increase of 43 per cent in 15 years. With that as a basis, taking into consideration that there have been no events calculated to cause a decrease, that the Egyptians are a prolific race and that the prosperity of the past decade has attracted numbers of foreigners to the country, one would not be far wrong in computing the figures of the next census to be over 18,000,000—rather more than less.

MAKING LIFE WORTH LIVING.

Some Golden Rules Laid Down by Right Thinking Woman.

To be happy, hopeful, buoyant, kind, loving from the very depths of my heart; considerate and thoughtful regarding the peculiarities and eccentricities of human nature, adjusting myself to each so as to produce harmony and not friction; to be pure in word, thought and deed; broad-minded and liberal, not given to petty denunciation of my fellows; moderate in methods of life; never adding a burden or sorrow where a little forethought would give pleasure; not hasty in speech or action; sincere, candid and truthful in every detail; conscientious in the execution of every duty; composed, unpretentious and simple, keeping close to nature's heart and always relying upon Him I most earnestly strive to serve; keeping ever before me that exemplary life as my rule of conduct toward men, thus creating an influence for good: This is my idea of making "life worth living."—Louise M. Wadell in The Nurse.

Gold Mining in Siberia.

A curious and characteristic feature of mining in the Orsk gold field, Siberia, is the way the ground is prospected and opened up by peasant "tributors." Permission is readily granted to sink shafts wherever they like, subject to the conditions that they can go down only as far as water level, usually about 60 feet, and that all the quartz extracted must be treated at the mill of the ground landlord and all gold extracted sold to him at a rate previously decided upon, leaving a fair profit for the peasant and an extra good one for the landlord. There is no philanthropy about the transaction, and the peasant is in no way bound to accept the terms. No charge whatever is made for the use of mill. The field is thus practically developed for nothing—rich reefs which would probably remain undiscovered are opened up by "tributors," who frequently make fortunes out of rich strikes. The mine owner is thus continually in touch with all that is going on, and duly records the results of the operations for his own benefit.

Hopeless Either Way.

When the teacher called the class for geography she noticed that Eben Wilkins, her dullest pupil, wore a particularly cheerful smile.

"You look as if you knew your lesson to-day," she said, encouragingly.

"Yes'm, I do," he answered briskly.

"The answer to the first question is 'North,' and the next is 'Alaska,' and the next is 'United States,' and the next is—"

"But that is not the way to learn your lesson, Eben," and the teacher struggled for a properly severe expression. "You must skip about. That is what I shall do in asking the questions."

Eben looked as if the joy of living had departed once for all.

"But supposing I didn't skip about the way you do," he said, plaintively, "then I'd be all mixed up."—Youth's Companion.

Can't Kill This Man.

Henry Wright, a hodcarrier, employed in the construction of a new brewery at Bentleyville, this county, to-day lost his footing and plunged 85 feet from the roof of the structure. In falling he encountered two two-inch planks, which were broken in twain.

Wright lay immovable for a few seconds and two physicians were summoned. As they entered the building they were met by Wright, who carelessly asked Dr. William Booth for a cigarette. An examination showed that not a bone was broken and but few minor bruises sustained. Wright resumed his work immediately.—Washington (Pa.) Cor. Philadelphia Record.

Useful Medal.

Tess—It was Jane Strang, wasn't it, who won the gold medal for her graduation essay on "Female Suffrage" last year?

Jess—Gracious, no! It was three years ago.

Tess—Are you sure?

Jess—Positive. I saw her baby cutting his teeth on that medal yesterday. She's Mrs. Popley now, you know.

"Brother Jonathan."

The original "Brother Jonathan" was Mr. Jonathan Trumbull, governor of the state of Connecticut during the American war of independence.

NOW THE BRACELET COCKTAIL.

Another Fascinating Vision of Metropolitan Life.

The cocktail bracelet is the latest for women. There are fashionable women of this city who wear circlets on their wrists which sometimes contain a Martini dry or a Manhattan, says a New York correspondent. The bracelets have one drawback, it is said, and that is they will not accommodate the cherry that goes with the fairy cocktail. The other night a Pittsburgh attorney observed a woman of fashion place her lips to her bracelet. He thought that she was paying tribute to her own loveliness, but learned later she was merely refreshing her inner self with a mixture of cordials. The nip contained in a bracelet cocktail is so small that it cannot be called a drink, but a cocktail it is, nevertheless. Of course, the bracelet is hollow. If large enough it holds three thimblefuls of ready-made cocktail, and pressure on an almost invisible spring permits the fluid to trickle through a tiny hole in the gold shell, which is almost too small to be seen. With one of those graceful movements which appear to be natural with a woman the drink may be imbibed without fear of detection. A Broadway goldsmith sells numbers of the bracelets every week, and as most of the purchasers prefer secrecy in connection with the transaction they pay a pretty penny for the daintily useful trinkets.

FOR AN OLD-TIME ROOM.

Articles Were Just the Thing Miss M. Was Looking For.

They were at a utility table at a charity bazaar, and everybody seemed to ignore them—to consider them, probably, only ugly little bands of white crocheted cotton, with a cord running through the scalloped edge on one side—but when Miss M. discovered them among a pile of iron holders and dust cloths she bought them, without even asking the price, and in her joy at getting them would probably have paid $5 for them as readily as she did 50 cents.

"Just what I have wanted for ages," she sighed with satisfaction, as she hugged her little bundle close to her side and departed with her chum.

"What are they—wash-rags?"

"Hushers."

"What are they?" demanded her friend.

"Easily telling you're not from New England," replied Miss M., who then explained the mission of hushers. "They slip over the edges of soap dishes and other articles of the washstand furnishing, and, as their name suggests, deaden all noise. They are so quaint and old-timey, and will give just the finishing touch to my colonial bedroom."

Perficious Food.

"When I was editor of the Virginia City Enterprise," said Mark Twain at a dinner in New York, "a fine turkey was one day left at the office."

"Turkeys were rare in that high altitude, and we all hankored after this bird. The proprietor, though, claimed it for his own. He took it home and had it served for dinner."

"The next morning, as he was expatiating on the turkey's richness and tenderness, a letter was handed to him. He opened it and read:

"Mr. Editor—Sir: Yesterday I sent you a turkey which has been the cause of much dispute among us. To settle a bet will you kindly ask your agricultural editor to state in tomorrow's issue what it died of?"

Had Her Guessing.

Alta's mother was ill and Alta had been asked to make the coffee, using half an egg to settle it. The problem was too much for the little girl, who came running to her mother, a knife in one hand and an egg in the other, and asked: "How do you cut an egg in half, without spilling it?"
